The Green Man Brings Green Fun to his Flathead Valley Fans!

MusEco Media and Education Project, a Billings-based educational non-profit organization focused on environmental sustainability, music, and Native American issues is bringing The Green Man to Somers, Montana, on Friday October 15, 2010.

The Green Man is already well known in the Billings area through his series Green Smarts with the Green Man and now he is making a trip to meet his fans and talk about green living in the Flathead Valley. Our loveable local celebrity will be talking to 6th graders at Somers Middle School about one of his favorite things: our precious and tasty natural resource, water!

Students will have the opportunity to ask The Green Man all kinds of delving questions about the earth, water and inevitably, his beard. As a special treat, The Green Man will be giving each student an eco- sticker to place carefully on an appropriate surface - in fond remembrance of this exciting event.

Learn more about The Green Man by visiting www.GreenManTV.org. To invite The Green Man to appear at your local school or event, please contact his "people" using the contact information above.
